

You are invited to a public lecture on

Stakeholder engagement policy: A Singapore schools perspective

Dr. Lana Khong
National Institute of Education
Singapore

The talk will share some current issues regarding stakeholder engagement in Singapore schools and examine how leveraging on positive collaborations with stakeholders can be an added resource for schools to draw on in fulfilling their educative roles.

This talk will interest those in leadership who understand, or would like to interrogate further, the critical importance of working with key stakeholders in their community within a disruptive, rapidly-changing globalized context. There will be many opportunities for interaction during the talk, with a view to the collaborative exchange of useful information and ideas.

10 December 2019, 17:00-18:30

Sophia University (Yotsuya Campus), Bldg. 6, Room 403
(Lecture in English. Free admission)

Organized by the Department of Education, Faculty of Human Sciences
Inquiries: miemanzon@sophia.ac.jp